BY THOSE WHOM HE HAD LABORED FOR

late at Brompton Oratory Yesterday -The Remains Interred at Kin-

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The funeral services over the remains of Cardinal Manning were held in the Brompton oratory yesterday. Admission to the oratory was by ticket only, for it would have been utterly impossible for the struc-ture to contain a hundredth part of the vast crowd who were desirous of pay-ing a last token of respect to the dead prelate. The crowd began to gather in the vicinity of the oratory at an early hour, and every minute it gained in size. It was composed largely of workingmen and their families, and on every side could be heard expressions of love for the man who had devoted so much of his time and talents to bringing about a betterment in their condition, and who having fought the good fight, had gone to his reward.

"He was good to the poor," people h the crowd were heard to exclaim. Hundreds of times was this repeated through the vast crowd, many of the members of which had a personal knowledge of the kindness of heart of the dead cardinal, who had taken in people of all religions. No higher praise could be spoken of any man than that the was good to the poor," and the poor of London have good reason to mourn

So dense was the crowd and so thick So dense was the crowd and so then was the fog that traffic in the vicinity of the oratory was brought to a stand-still. Hundreds of mounted policemen and constables on foot were present to maintain order, but they were seldom called upon to do more than speak kindly to the crowd to have their or-ters obeyed. At 5 o'clock matins and other serv ices for the dead were said in the ora-tory, where the body had been lying in state during Wednesday, having been removed from Westminster on Tuesday nght. When the solemn mass of requiem was commenced the oratory was filled with notable personages repre-senting the caurch, the state and all political parties. The queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales were Prince and Princes at The State Prince and Princes at their households. All the ambassadors of foreign powers were present also The coffin reposed in front of the altar II was enveloped in a black pall, ornalization. mented with gold crosses, crimson cords and a fringe of bullion. He opened his remarks with a touching tribute to the late Inke of Clarence and Avon-dale. He said that an era had closed in the history of Catholicism in England with the death of Cardinal Manning and a new one had opened. He ning and a new one nad opened. He made special reference to the cardinal's efforts to secure the Catholic education of children, and declared that the struggle was not yet over. Following these came 300 carriages containing private citizens, and after them marched a large number of work-ingmen's societies. The dock laborers nd the stevedores were represented by large delegations of the men em-ployed in different occupations.

The body was interred in Kensale Green cemetery

The grave of Cardinal Manning is close to that of his eminent contem-porary, Cardinal Wiseman. An awning covers it temporarily, and after the ceremony was over and the priests and mourners had departed, the public were allowed to file past the open vault allowed to file past the open vault. The crowd was much larger than had been expected, however, and instead of the cemetery being speedily cleared, us had been looked for, the procession past the grave was kept up for two hours, the custodians of the cemetery being unable to close the gates until long after the customary hour.

The building is situated in the very heart of the fushionable shopping por heart of the fishionable snopping por-tion of the city, being flanked on one side by the famous Tiffany jewelry house, and on the right by the Lincoln office building, and the big plaza in the square opposite was soon filled with an immense crowd, which was far better dressed than the usual fire crowd, and who impeded the efforts of the fremen to a great extent, notwith standing the efforts of the police to keep them beyond the ropes.

Owing to the density of the smoke and the comparative absence of flame, it was at first impossible for the firemen to locate the seat of the fire, and it was not until all the windows had been broken and fire had got a good start in every floor that the water tower began to throw streams on the fourth floor, the firemen at the same time attacking the blaze in the front and in the rear of the building.

Tiffany's building being

BRIERTAINED AT BLUE MOUND.

Party From Decatur Spend Most Delightful Evening

A large party of Decatur young ladies and gentlemen left yesterday afternoon on the Wahsah passanger for Blue Mound, where they attended a social party and dance given by Miss Mabel Miller, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller, at her home in that city. The home was decorated with cut-flowers and potted plants, and the cordial and warmhearted hospitality of this home was freely extended to all who participated The afternoon was spent in social converse, and rome, more curious than others, viewed the eights in that city from a more serious point of view They were met by the populace on every corner, who fell back and made way for the party of besiegers. They sought the photographer, but, slas, they found him with his camera all "tattered and torn," and the idea of having a likeness Hanks & Co.'s handy store, 143 South struck off was unwillingly forsaken, Later they returned to the home of Mass Miller, where a bountiful and sumptu ous repeat was spread. At 8 o'clock the party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J B. Freeman, Miss Blanche Gill of Champaign, Misses Lola Riber and Mary Schwab of Blue Mound, Miss Susie Merkle of Paris, Miss Bertha Clark of

The music was furnished by a local organization or "crehestra" who deserve great credit for the manner in which they performed on their violins. At 11 30 the party went to the depot and caught the Wabsah passenger for home arriving in the city about 12 30, much delighted with the trip, the evening's entertainment and the extreme hospitality f the hostese and her kind parents.

Sleighing Parties

A party of young ladies and gentleme drove out to the rendence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green, northeast of the city, last evening, where an elegant oysnot secure a release from their lease of ter supper was apread. will greatly discommode the people of this station who may want to hear a lecture or attend a theatre at Decatur. The reason assigned by the officials for the action taken on this train and station is that a number of young men and boys are in the habit of coming out from Decatur in a drunken condition, and that they universally use this train, that they not only are a nuisance to the traveling public, but destroy train property. This certainly is cause sufficient to justify the company in refusing to early that class but it does seem unjust to make the innocent suffer with the guilty. It is not the province of this paper to deny the charges of drunkenness.

It is not the province of this paper to deny the charges of drunkenness made by the railway company. They are only too true. The railroad i as no protection, under law for refusing to carry a human hog, and such protection chould be granted by the next legislature. The decent orderly class of true-slers should be protected from the drunken, disorderly clars. A railroad company should have power to "fire every drunken man off their trains."

MIGHABL TROUTMAN'S DEATH.

Last Night-The Autopsy-An Epitome of His Life.

Michael Troutman, who has for some months been sick, died at 11 o'clock last night at his home, No. 531 West Main street. His death was not unexpected as his sickness was of that character as to preclude his chances of recovery, and especially so during the past three weeks when he was unable to leave his home A diagnosis of his case revealed the fact that at least one of the troubles existed in a cancer of the lower bowels, and i was decided that an operation was th only chance of prolonging his life. His physician, Dr. R. L. Walston, decided this chance of prolonging his life should be adopted, and Sunday, January 3. Dr Walston, assisted by Drs. Ira N. Barnes and William Barnes successfully remove the cancer. The wound healed kindly and the patient became much better Notwithstanding the fact that the woun centinued to heal, the favorable symptoms noted after the operation passed away and he gradually became worse unti death resulted. During his sickness became evident that Mr. Troutman was also suffering from brain trouble, and this morning by consent of the family Dr. Walston and Dr. Will Barnes made a post mortem examination of the brain. The antopsy revealed a general disease condition of the brain, the right side being the worst. Springing from the idly, but he was contrary and would not durameter, one and one-half inches in budge. Warnick got tired and went on front and above the right ear, the surgeons found a fibrous tumor, spherical in form, about one and one-half inches in diameter. This tumor, which it was im possible to remove during treatment, to ether with the general disease of the brain, cansed his death.

Michael Troutman was born in Baya rin, May 3, 1835, and at a very early age came with his parents to this country His family settled in Columbus, Ohio where Michael grew to manhood. After attaining his majority he came to Deca tur in 1857. He remained but a shor time, going South,' but after a year's the Salem cometery southwest of Deci absence returned, and since that time has made Decatur his home. He was married to Sophia Volk, who survives him, in 1860. The result of this union was six children four of whom are still living, Elmer. Nora, and Clara of Decatur and Mrs. P

K. Albert, of Guthrie, Oklahoma. Michael Trontman was a man controlled by an exceptionally strong will power which held him up under physical sufferings and adversities under which other men with less tensoity would have gone down. In 1860 the year of his marriage in an accident on the Illinois Central railroad he lost a leg. At the time of the accident he was in the employ of that corporation.

He was a brick mason by trade and after securing an artificial limb he began working at his trade. This was difficul at first, on account of his crippled condition, but he persevered until he became able to make a full hand. He soon be came a contractor, and was financially successful. Some years ago he left his business to his son Elmer, F. H. Converse and Julius Randall, who had been in his employ, and retired from active manness, settling down to enjoy life. The funeral will take place from the late residence of the deceased at 10:80 gon officiating.

A DREADFUL SCENE.

The Burning of the Indiana Surgical Institute

WITH A LONG LIST OF CASUALTIES.

Past Recognition - Several of the Inmates Fatally Hurt and Many Injured-Veritable Fire Trap.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.-The ndiana Surgical institute burned last night, the flames breaking out just be ore midnight in the old annex, a block separated from the main building by just a narrow space. Before the firms as discovered the whole interior was ablaze. The institution had about 500 inmates, most of whom were helpless cripples. When the fire department arrived the windows were full o screaming, meaning cripples, and the scene was one of horror beyond description.

The work of rescue was begun at once with ladders, and the inmates were removed with great rapidity, but at least thirty were injured, some terribly. In the confusion and excitement it is almost impossible to get names, but some of the worst hurt are:

Mrs. Gales, of Madison, Ind.; fell from a ladder with a child in her arms; internally in jured.

Kate Elstrang, Indianapolis; fatally Mrs. Thomas, Indianapolis; fatally burned. Fannie Breeden, Memphis, Tenn. badly burned; recovery doubtful. Harry Stearns, Warsen, Ia.; burned about feet.

Clara Morris, address unknown; back

njured. Grant Van Hoesen, Althena, N. Y.; hand and hair burned. Clarence Mend, Athens, N. Y.; leg

William Helback, Dunkirk, N. Y., burned. Leora Knowles, Independence, Ind. back hurt in jumping.
W. W. Snyder, Troy, O.; internally injured, falling from window.

Will Mansfield, Otsego, N. Y; foot hart in jumping.
Mrs. John S. Stokes, Danville, Ill; ankle sprained.

Nellie Mason, Warworth county, Wis.; jumped from the third story and is fatally hurt. Mrs. Lazarus, of Texas; jumped from third-story window and will die.

Mrs. J. J. Simpson und child, seri onsly burt. R. Connor, fell through hole in floor; fatally hurt. May Ballinger, Indianapolis; terribly

The patients were carried to various ospitals and hotels as fast as rescued and nobody knows who is missing One girl was seen to come to a windo and a moment later fall back into the flames

After the fire had been in progress a half hour twenty women were found standing on a rear roof just ready to They had escaped attention i the confusion, though screaming at the top of their voices. They were recue in safety

It is beared at this writing that a many as lefteen were suffocated by smoke and perished in the flames of the old annex. If time proves this to be true, a terrible responsibility rests upon the owners of the institute. It was a vertiable thre trap. The old annex and main building were nothing more nor less than old-fashioned four-story business blocks, the main building at the corner of Georgia and Illinois streets and the annex, imme-diately east of it, fronting on Georgia street. The hulls were narrow, as were also the stairways; there were no proper exits and no conveniences to be used in case of fire.

The fire originated in the second floor of the east annex, near the east wall, and of the east annex, near the east wall, and burned that building, spreading from it to the main building. The patients in the main building were all gotten out amid indescribable scenes of excite-ment and horror Many were rescued from the annex, and it is hoped that all were gotten out, yet it is feared that several were lost.
